Soiltech ASA (OSE: STECH)
Sandnes, Norway, 6 July 2026

Soiltech ASA has secured two contracts to deliver fluid treatment services for undisclosed operators in Norway and the UK. While the scope of work differs between the projects, Soiltech will be utilizing its market-leading Slop Treatment Technology (STT®) on both. Operations are expected to commence during the third quarter of 2026. Combined, the contracts are classified as substantial<sup>1</sup>.

Demand for Soiltech's fluid treatment services remains strong. To support continued growth, the Company has therefore ordered five new STT units, with delivery scheduled for the first half of 2027.

"Demand for our fluid treatment services continues to be strong, and these contract awards further strengthen our confidence in the market outlook. The investment in five new STT units will increase the capacity to support our clients", says Jan Erik Tveteraas, CEO of Soiltech.
