

Lokotech's SPDUs Advance to Certification as First Generation Nears Completion

Oslo, Norway – September 14, 2026 – Lokotech Group AS today announced that its SPDUs have completed pre-certification testing, marking a key milestone ahead of full regulatory certification. The final iteration of the first-generation SPDUs will be submitted for formal certification.

First Batch Fully Booked

The initial sample batch is now fully booked as commercial samples. Lokotech confirms that production and delivery planning for this first batch are proceeding on schedule. Clients can expect shipment to start within four to six weeks.

Next Batch – Contact Sales

With the first batch fully allocated, Lokotech is now taking interest for its next production batch. Miners and hosting clients interested in securing SPDUs are encouraged to contact Lokotech's sales team directly at sales@lokotech.no for availability, lead times, and pricing.
