Financials

Resilient portfolio performance

Q3 summary

- Group EBIT: NOK 104m (33m), reflecting higher revenue level in AFK Vannkraft, and improved profitability in ENRX.
- ENRX with improved margins, driven by effective cost reduction initiatives and the absence of operating losses from the former Charge division.
- NSSLGlobal with lower margins largely due to lower gross margins following delayed project invoicing.
- Tekna: Strong growth in both Materials and Systems, and adj. EBITDA margin of 21.5%. Impairments and one-offs impacted reported EBIT.
- AFK Vannkraft delivered solid margin due to high prices.
- Financial gain of NOK 82m related to the TA transaction recognised below operating profit. Q3 2025 impacted by gain related to sale of Volue's Infrastructure business.
- Earnings after tax reflect the high effective tax rate, including the resource rent tax, applicable to Norwegian hydropower.

Outlook

Total revenue for 2026 is expected to be in line with 2025

EBIT is expected to be significantly higher, driven by 2025 impairment in ENRX and expected margin recovery, and higher hydropower revenue

- ENRX: Revenue expected lower, EBIT higher than 2025
- NSSLGlobal: Revenue expected in line, EBIT lower than 2025
- Tekna: Revenue expected higher than 2025, improved EBIT
- AFK Eiendom: Revenue expected in line, EBIT higher than 2025
- AFK Vannkraft: Revenue and EBIT expected higher than 2025
- Volue: Revenue and adj. cash EBITDA expected higher than in 2025
